

As a free people we must defend our dearly won heritage of freedom against all assaults. If we do not, the same fate will befall us that has happened in so many of the formerly free nations of the world.

We are told that communism thrives on the miseries of the people. This may be true in some nations, but how can we account for the many so-called Americans, who align themselves with the communist front, in our own country. These false Americans ride around in Cadillacs—draw big salaries through the medium of their United Nations jobs, or so we are told by the press and radio. What is their excuse for wanting to trade our freedom for enslavement by the Bolsheviks? It is difficult to imagine the reasoning of these traitorous Americans, because they are traitors. One of the first precepts of communism is that the State is all powerful, and that the individual is deprived of all rights, and must pay blind adherence to his masters in the Kremlin. And they call that freedom.

We are here this afternoon to honor Poland as a nation. As long as our great nation is free, we can hold out hope to the Polish people, and to other subjugated nations.

We all pray for the day when Poland will be really free. At the same time, let us firmly resolve that this great nation of ours will remain free. That is our job, and we must work at it every day in the year. I repeat again—eternal vigilance is the price of liberty.
