

commissioners are specifically authorized to add to the compensation of such other justices as may act as committing justices for the trial magistrates in proportion to the amount of work such other justices may be called upon from time to time to perform. The annual salaries of trial magistrates and constables at large shall be paid in equal monthly amounts. Any incorporated municipality in any county may add to the compensation herein provided for such other justices as may act as committing justices, in consideration of services rendered in cases involving violations of municipal ordinances, provided that such compensation shall not be on a fee basis.

In Harford County it shall be the duty of the County Commissioners to supplement the statutory salaries of Committing Magistrates where the work load justifies such increased compensation, except that no fee system of payment shall be lawful.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That this Act shall take effect January 1, 1960.

Approved April 28, 1959.

CHAPTER 584

(Senate Bill 127)
