The said bill was then sent to the Senate.

Mr. Merrick offered the following resolutions:

Resolved by the General Assembly of Maryland, That the people of Maryland, no less than their Representatives in this Legislature, delight to honor and pay just tribute to the development of superior intellectual power wherever and whenever displayed, because they know and feel that each and every such development tends to advance and promote the triumph of mind over matter, and because, in proportion to the degrees of that advance, is man brought nearer to, and made more to resemble the beneficent and omnipotent author of his being.

Resolved, That whilst we honor and commend all such demonstrations of superior intellectual power, we cannot but feel peculiar and especial gratification in finding amongst our own fellow-citizens, instances of such demonstrations which blend the triumph of mind over matter, with the holy and commendable ends of humanity and benevolence.

Resolved, therefore, That we have seen with unfeigned gratification the newly invented Railroad Break, patented by our honored fellow-citizen, the Hon. William Loughridge, who is also a
