So the sixth section of said amendment was not assented to.

Mr. Thruston proposed the following amendment:

Section —. And be it enacted, That the said Convention, if it shall assemble in pursuance of this act, shall have no power or authority, directly or indirectly, in any manner whatever, to alter, amend, change, abridge, abbreviate, limit, annul, or do away with the guarantees of religious liberty, in the present Constitution and Bill of Rights, contained and expressed, nor shall it establish any religious test as a qualification for office, or a condition or qualification to the elective franchise in this State.

The yeas and nays being demanded, appeared as follow:
