The said bill was then sent to the Senate.

The hour having arrived for taking up the order of the day, the House took up for consideration a bill entitled, an act entitled a supplement to an act passed January session, 1853, entitled, an act to regulate pilotage.

Said bill being upon its second reading,

Mr. Kilbourn proposed the following amendment:

Strike out the enacting clause;

Which was not assented to.

The question then being on the following amendment:

In section 1, line 2, after the word "vessels" insert, "of two hundred tons burthen and over;"

Pending the consideration thereof,

The Secretary of the Senate delivered the following message:

By the Senate,

March 2, 1858.

Gentlemen of the House of Delegates:

We have received your message proposing to go into an election of State Librarian to-morrow at 2 o'clock and concur therein. We have nominated on the part of the Senate Llewellyn Boyle, as a candidate for the said office. We have appointed Messrs. Kimmel and Franklin a committee on the part of the Senate, to act with the gentlemen appointed by your honorable body to count the ballots and report the result.

By Order,

C. HARWOOD, Secretary.

Which was read.

The hour having arrived, the House proceeded to ballot for State Librarian.

The roll was called and it appeared that sixty-three members had voted.

The ballot box was then sealed and delivered by the Speaker into the hands of Messrs. Wickes and Goldsborough, tellers on the part of the House, to join the gentlemen who had been appointed on the part of the Senate.

The said tellers then proceeded to the Senate Chamber for the purpose of counting the ballots;
