So the opinion of the chair stood as the judgment of the House.

The question then recurred on assenting to the amendment submitted by Mr. Handy of Somerset, as amended by the motion of Mr. Causin.

Mr. Hammond then moved to amend the said amendment by adding thereto the following:

“And that the Legislature shall have a right to repeal the charters of all banks in this State, which shall fail or refuse to redeem their notes in specie;”

Which was read.

Mr. Causin then rose to a point of order, “whether the said amendment was in order, because it was in substance what the House had stricken from the said amendment, or if not, that it was foreign from the subject under consideration.”

But the Speaker was of opinion, and so decided, that the said amendment was in order.

The question was then put,

Will the House assent to the said amendment to the amendment submitted by Mr. Handy of Somerset.

Mr. Yellott then moved to lay the whole subject on the table;

On the question being put,

It was determined in the negative.

The question then recurred on assenting to the amendment submitted by Mr. Hammond, to the amendment submitted by Mr. Handy of Somerset;

And on being put,

On motion of Mr. Causin,

The yeas and nays were required and appeared as follows:

AFFIRMATIVE.
