

This limitation shall not be applicable to the payment of the personal expenses provided for in subsection (b) hereinabove. Any payment, expenditure, contribution, promise or liability which may be made or incurred, directly or indirectly, by the spouse of any candidate for nomination or public office shall be charged against the candidate as if made by the candidate himself.

26-9. Contributions and expenses of persons not a candidate.

(a) No person other than a candidate shall, to aid or promote the success or defeat of any political party or principle or of any proposition submitted to vote at any public election, or of any candidate for nomination to public office make a payment or contribution of money or property or incur any liability or promise any valuable thing to any person other than to the treasurer or subtreasurer of a candidate or treasurer of a political committee; a contribution may be made directly to a candidate who has not appointed a treasurer provided such candidate shall thereupon report such contribution in the manner provided herein for treasurers. Nothing contained in this subtitle shall limit or affect the right of any person to volunteer his time or personal vehicle for transportation incident to any election or to expend money for proper legal expenses in maintaining or contesting the results of any such elections. However, nothing in this subsection shall preclude any person from expressing his own personal views on any subject, hiring halls, buying newspaper space and radio or television time, provided, that coincident with such statement or advertising notice shall be given that the views so expressed are his own.

(b) It shall be unlawful for any individual, either directly or indirectly, to contribute any money or things of value greater than $2,500 to any candidate, party, or proposition, in any primary or general election.

26-10. Paying or receiving money, etc., for political services on election day.

No person or political committee or party committee shall at any time pay, receive or incur any obligation, express or implied, to pay or receive any sum of money or thing of value whatever for services to be performed on the day of any election on behalf of any candidate, party or measure, to be voted upon at the election; or for any political service performed on this day, or for any loss of time or damage suffered by attendance at the polls at the election. This section shall not apply to newspaper, radio, television, billboard, or aerial advertising or to amplifying equipment, regularly employed headquarters' personnel, or rental of headquarters' facilities including communications' equipment, or to any cost incurred for the purpose of providing transportation for voters to and from polling places.

26-11. Expenditures by treasurer or subtreasurer.

(a) It shall be lawful for any treasurer or subtreasurer in connection with any election and in making provisions therefor, to pay all lawful expenses including, but not limited to, the following expenses: (1) Hiring of halls and music for the conventions, public meetings and public primaries and for advertising the same; (2)
