Mr. Seidenstricker, chairman of the select committee appointed to investigate into the causes which lead to the failure of the Bank of Maryland and other insolvent institutions, made the following report :

Pursuant to an order of the House of Delegates of the 12th inst., the select committee on the Bank of Maryland and other insolvent institutions, respectfully

REPORT :

That in accordance with the original orders of the house, passed January 7th, and 12th, the committee for the purpose of presenting the investigation assigned to them, summoned the trustees of the Bank of Maryland, with the books of the institution, and other witnesses believed to be cognizant of the affairs of the bank. The committee have propounded interrogatories to the following witnesses :—Messrs. Morris and Gill, trustees, Henry Stump, Francis M. Fowler, Robert Willson, J. J. Atkinson, John Glenn, William M. Ellicott, George Mackubin, William F. Giles and R. Mickle, all of whose testimony is contained in written statements in possession of the committee. These statements as far as they relate immediately to the Bank of Maryland, are made up from the books of said bank, the books of the Union Bank of Maryland, and the accounts of Reverdy Johnson and John Glenn, trustees of Evan Poultney. There are likewise other statements derived from the trustess of the bank, John V. L. McMahon, Henry Stump, William F. Giles and George Mackubin, on the subject of the legal proceedings of the trust, and from William M. Ellicott, on subjects connected with the investigation.
