

created by Article 66C, section 110H of the Code, every statutory unit is enumerated here to provide a comprehensive statutory table.

The words "department and agency" in the first sentence of the present law are omitted because no such description now applies to any unit of the Department of Natural Resources which is the only department. For an explanation of the use of the term "unit" see the revisor's note to section 1-101(d). The reference in the present law which includes the other agencies, boards, units, within the department is omitted as unnecessary. When additional or substitute units within the department are created by law, this statute shall be appropriately amended.

In subsection (c) new language is added to indicate to the Code user that other provisions of this Article may provide for the organization of an advisory board. At this time, only the Advisory Committee on Archeology is subject to provisions not set forth here. See section 2-304.
