

Subsection (d) (2) of this section has been revised to conform to the changes made to the Consumer Protection Act by Ch. 609, Acts of 1974, and to reflect the fact that Art. 83, §§ 21 and 22A, referred to in present §22E(f) (3), were repealed by Ch. 609. In this regard, see general revisor's note to this subtitle.

The prohibition against imprisonment for violation of this subtitle is now set out in §13-411(b) of this article.

The only other changes are in style.

14-107. ARBITRATION OF DISPUTES.

NOTWITHSTANDING ANY OTHER PROVISION OF THIS SUBTITLE, THE DIVISION MAY SUBMIT DISPUTES UNDER THIS SUBTITLE FOR ARBITRATION IN ACCORDANCE WITH THE PROVISIONS OF §13-404 OF THIS ARTICLE.

REVISOR'S NOTE: This subsection is new language added as a reference to the arbitration provisions of present Art. 83, §22C - now contained in §13-404 of this article. The incorporation by reference is necessitated by reason of the transfer to this title of the otherwise generally independent unit pricing provisions; in this regard, see revisor's note to §14-105 and general revisor's note to this subtitle.

GENERAL REVISOR'S NOTE

In revising the Consumer Protection Act, now Title 13 of this article, the Commission to Revise the Annotated Code noted several inconsistencies between the general provision of that Act, particularly as amended by Ch. 609, Acts of 1974, and the unit pricing provisions which, as Art. 83, §21E, are presently a part of the Act. Compare, e.g., the exemptions granted by Art. 83, §§ 20J and 21E(b) (now, respectively, §§ 13-104 and 14-102); and the consumers' complaints provisions of Art. 83, §§ 20F(a) and 21E(f) (1), (now, respectively, §§ 13-401(a) and 14-106(a)). To preserve the integrity of the generally independent unit pricing provision, the Commission decided to transfer them to this Title 14, with but the minimal changes necessitated by enactment of Ch. 609, Acts of 1974.

Article 83, §21E(f) presently provides that, after the Attorney General declares the specified practice unlawful, "thereafter...[it qualifies] as an unlawful practice under §21...and...[is] subject to §§ 22 and
