21-1106. RIDING IN MOBILE HOMES.

(A) RIDING PROHIBITED.

A PERSON MAY NOT OCCUPY ANY MOBILE HOME WHILE IT IS BEING TOWED ON A HIGHWAY.

(B) DUTIES OF DRIVER.

THE DRIVER OF A VEHICLE MAY NOT PERMIT ANY PERSON TO OCCUPY A MOBILE HOME THAT IS BEING TOWED ON A HIGHWAY BY THE DRIVER.

REVISOR'S NOTE: This section presently appears as Art. 66 1/2, §11-1106.

The term "mobile home" is substituted for "house trailer". See §11-134 of this title.

The only other changes are in style.

The Commission questions whether this section, by limited applicability to "mobile homes", might not be more narrow than desired. Is there any real difference between riding in a "mobile home" than, for example, a "travel trailer" (see §11-170 of this article) or similar vehicle. The General Assembly may wish to consider some of the variations adopted by other states in this regard. For example, Virginia includes an express reference to "camping trailers"; Maine prohibits riding in any "trailer {or} semitrailer" except for farm trailers or for an employee in the necessary discharge of his duties; and Alaska and Washington both ban riding in any "trailer" unless the occupant is steering a vehicle designed to be steered from a rear-end position (cf., Traffic Laws Annotated, §11-1107).

21-1107. RESERVED.

21-1108. COASTING PROHIBITED.

(A) VEHICLES GENERALLY.

IF A MOTOR VEHICLE IS TRAVELING ON A DOWNGRADE, THE DRIVER OF THE MOTOR VEHICLE MAY NOT COAST WITH THE GEARS OR TRANSMISSION IN NEUTRAL.
