

§66A.

The last paragraph of present Art. 89B, §66A, which establishes a penalty of $10 to $25 for violation of its provisions, is deleted as obsolete and, to the extent that the general sentence of present §66A duplicates the requirements of present §11-119, inconsistent with the standard penalties established by Title 27 of this article.

The only other changes are in style.

The Commission notes that, under subsection (d)(2) of this section, snow tires are required for "both" driving wheels. This language creates a minor ambiguity as to four-wheel drive vehicles and, therefore, might be considered for further clarification.
