

protect all toll facilities that could be seriously damaged by transportation of dangerous substances.

This section also has been broadened by prohibiting transportation by any "person", rather than merely transportation by "vehicle".

The penalties presently contained in Art. 89B, §120C are transferred to Title 27 of this article. See §27-101 of this article.

The only other changes are in style.

Consideration might be given to including nuclear wastes among the listed prohibited dangerous substances.

For federal regulations governing the transportation of explosives, radioactive materials, and other dangerous substances, see U.S.C. Title 18, §832.
