(a) Separate surface magazines shall be provided for the storage of explosives, detonators, and cardox heater elements. Surface magazines for storing and distributing high explosives in amounts exceeding 125 pounds shall be:

(1) Reasonably bulletproof and constructed of incombustible material or covered with fire-resistive material. The roof of the magazine shall be located so it is impossible to fire a bullet directly through the roof from the ground. The roof need not be bulletproof, but if it is possible to fire a bullet directly through the roof, it shall be made bullet resistant by material construction, or by a ceiling that forms a tray containing not less than a 4 inch thickness of sand, or by some other method;

(2) Provided with doors constructed of three-eighths inch steel plate lined with a 2 inch thickness of wood, or the equivalent;

(3) Provided with floors made of wood or other nonsparking material which has no metal exposed inside the magazine;

(4) Provided with a suitable warning sign located so a bullet passing directly through the face of a sign will not strike the magazine;

(5) Provided with a properly screened ventilator;

(6) Equipped with no openings except for entrance and ventilation; and

(7) Kept locked securely when unattended.

(b) Every surface magazine for storing black blasting powder, detonators, and cardox heater elements need not be bulletproof, but shall comply with other provisions for storing high explosives. High explosives, black blasting
