

improvements program, the county shall advertise in not less than two issues in any newspaper published in Prince George's County, that the commission has under consideration construction of a drainage system in the area determined upon or part of the area, giving in the advertisement the approximate cost and the general area affected, and advising those interested that a hearing will be held by the county at a time and place named in the advertisement at which all interested parties will be heard. At the hearing the commission shall be prepared to exhibit a plan for the drainage area or part of the area, including the length and size of pipe and the approximate cost. In its final action, the county governing body may make such amendments, revisions or modifications as it may determine, subject to the limitations otherwise herein provided. Any amendment, revision or modification shall not become final until after it is submitted to the commission for written comment, with at least thirty days provided for comment. In their review for approval or amendments to the six-year capital improvements program, the respective county governing bodies shall seek the advice and recommendation of the Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission.

(2) When the commission's submitted statement of objectives with respect to a project to be constructed in whole or in part in one county declares that the project is designed to provide services in whole or in substantial part to the other of the two respective counties, the project may be disapproved with the concurrence of the governing body of the county which is to receive the designed services. Notwithstanding the foregoing provision, the governing body wherein the project is located shall have the authority to direct modifications in location, or change the proposed year of construction if such modification or change will not prevent the services being available when needed. The authority to direct modifications in location may be exercised to effect reasonable changes in location on the occasion of the action of the county governing body when the project is first submitted as a part of the six-year capital improvements program. Thereafter, the authority to make further modifications shall be limited to only ones which do not result in substantial net additional costs or expenses to the commission unless the county governing body directing the modification shall provide for reimbursing the commission for such substantial net additional costs or expenses.

(3) In the event that a county governing body in its approval or amendment of the commission's six-year capital improvements program shall approve the undertaking of any capital project for which there is a lack of, or an insufficiency of funds from the anticipated funding sources shown by the commission, then the commission shall not be obligated to undertake such project in the absence of action by the respective county governing body to provide the additional sources of capital. In the event that as a direct result of the county governing body's change in an
