

General may maintain an action for injunctive relief in the circuit court of any county [or in the equity courts of the Supreme Bench of Baltimore City] against any person who renders, offers to render, or holds himself out as rendering any service which constitutes the unauthorized practice of the law. Any organized bar association in this State or the bar counsel may intervene in the action, at any stage of the proceeding, for good cause shown.

Article 16 - Chancery

66D.

(a) The State's attorney of the county [or city, as the case may be], for the purpose of facilitating the performance of his duties under this subtitle, at any time either before or after the filing of a bill or petition under this subtitle, may require witnesses, other than the person alleged to be the father of an illegitimate child, to appear before him for such examination of witnesses as may be deemed in the public interest. For this purpose he may issue subpoenas and summonses requiring the personal attendance of any and all persons, other than the person alleged to be the father of said child, to give testimony in connection with the examination or inquiry or requiring the production of any and all documentary matter in connection with the examination or inquiry. The State's attorney also may administer oath and affirmations, examine witnesses, and receive evidence. In case of disobedience to a subpoena or summons, or the contumacy of a witness appearing before him, the State's attorney may invoke the aid of the circuit court of the county [or the Circuit Court No. 2 of the City of Baltimore, as the case may be]; the court may thereupon issue an order requiring the person to obey the subpoena or summons and to give testimony and to produce any and all documentary matter deemed necessary by the court for the investigation or inquiry. In case any person, firm or corporation fails or refuses to obey such an order of the court after the same has been served on the witness, the person, firm, or corporation is in contempt of court and shall be punished therefor, subject to the right to appeal.

66F.

(d) If the defendant alleged to be the putative father elects a jury trial, the jury to be used shall be empanelled by the court from the jurors in attendance upon the law or criminal court in the county [or city] where the proceedings are pending; or, if there be no jurors in attendance, the court shall forthwith select twenty (20) good and lawful persons from the names upon the regular jury list of the last jury term of the law or criminal court in said county [or city] to be summoned to attend as jurors in the case. The summoning of said jurors, the empanelling of a jury of twelve (12) persons from said regular panel or from said
