

56.

(e) (1) Upon the death of a judge [or former judge] at any age, his spouse shall be paid one half of the pension that would be payable from time to time to the [former] judge if he were living and eligible to receive a pension. However, the spouse of any judge who dies while in active service between July 1, 1977 and April 1, 1980 is entitled to a pension equivalent to not less than one sixth of the annual salary for judges of that court as of the date of death.

(2) UPON THE DEATH OF A FORMER JUDGE AT ANY AGE, THE SURVIVING SPOUSE OF THE FORMER JUDGE SHALL BE PAID ONE-HALF OF THE PENSION THAT WOULD BE PAYABLE FROM TIME TO TIME TO THE FORMER JUDGE IF THE FORMER JUDGE WERE LIVING AND ELIGIBLE TO RECEIVE A PENSION.

(g) If A SPOUSE WHO IS RECEIVING A PENSION DIES, OR IF a former judge who is receiving a pension dies and leaves no SURVIVING spouse, or if a SURVIVING spouse who is receiving a pension dies, payments under either plan shall cease, and a person may not have any further rights arising from the judge's service.

SECTION 2. AND BE IT FURTHER ENACTED, That this Act shall take effect July 1, 1982.

Approved June 1, 1982.
