

charge solely on the ground of insanity", to encompass individuals committed because of incompetency to stand trial, since there appeared to be no intent to treat these individuals differently from those committed after an acquittal by reason of insanity. Also this substitution clarifies that the individual must be held currently in accordance with a commitment order under Title 12, and that subsection (d)(3) of this section does not apply simply because, at some prior time, the individual has been acquitted of a crime by reason of insanity.

The only other changes are in style.
