

a national commission drafts uniform bleeder rules. The extension is effective June 11, 1983.

2. Department of Health and Mental Hygiene: COMAR 10.17.13

Emergency Regulations permit the use of a nitrate removal device in wells which do not qualify for a certificate of potability. Hearing was held May 24, 1983. The emergency regulations were approved for 120 days beginning May 26, 1983, on express conditions agreed to by DHMH that enforcement mechanisms and notice mechanisms would be studied for inclusion in the final version of the formal regulations.

3. Department of Health and Mental Hygiene: COMAR 10.09.07

Emergency regulations change the method by which DHMH determines the maximum per diem rate for medical day care reimbursement under the Medical Day Care Assistance Program. The regulations are necessitated by passage of S.B. 443 (1983). Emergency Regulations were approved for 120 days, beginning July 1, 1983.

4. Department of Health and Mental Hygiene: COMAR 10.32.01.04A(5)

Emergency regulations implement a uniform mechanism for processing applications for medical licenses for graduates of unaccredited medical schools. Emergency regulations were approved for 120 days, beginning July 1, 1983.

5. Department of Economic and Community Development: COMAR 05.01.15 & 05.01.02

Emergency regulations create a Home and Energy Loan Program to establish and finance improvements to residential properties which are both home improvement and energy conservation improvements and to insure loans made under the Home Energy Loan Program.

Emergency regulations were approved only after DECD agreed to exorcise Regulation .10, which would have authorized political subdivisions to originate loans, an authority of questionable status under the current statute. The regulations became effective June 1, 1983, through November 30, 1983 (a period of 6 months).

6. Department of Health and Mental Hygiene: COMAR 10.09.20

Emergency regulations amend Personal Care Services regulations in several ways:

1. They permit physician providers to provide case management for the first time;