

supplier to furnish representatives to inspect parts and certify their acceptability when packed for shipment; providing that failure of a supplier to provide a representative within a certain time shall result in automatic acceptance by the supplier of all returned items; requiring a supplier to repurchase a dealer's inventory under certain circumstances; authorizing a repurchase amount to be set off or credited to a retailer's account if a dealer has outstanding debts to a supplier; authorizing a certain person to require the supplier to repurchase inventory under certain circumstances; providing that an heir, personal representative, guardian, or succeeding stockholder has a certain amount of time to exercise a certain option; requiring a supplier to pay a dealer certain amounts to repurchase certain inventory; requiring a supplier to pay certain costs or perform the handling, packing, and loading of repair parts; requiring a repurchase amount to be credited to the dealer's account if the dealer has any outstanding debts to the supplier; requiring the title and right of possession to the repurchased inventory to be transferred to the supplier upon payment of the repurchase amount to the dealer; prohibiting a supplier or lender from debiting a dealer's reserve account unless a certain condition is met; requiring that a former dealer or the heirs of a dealer be given quarterly status reports on any remaining outstanding recourse contracts; providing for the return of reserve account funds to a dealer or the heirs of the dealer; requiring a supplier to repurchase inventory from an heir of a dealer or majority stockholder under certain circumstances; requiring an heir to exercise a certain option within a certain amount of time; providing that nothing in this Act shall require the repurchase of inventory if the heir and the supplier enter into a new contract to operate the retail dealership; requiring a supplier to consider and make a determination on a request by a family member to enter into a new contract to operate a dealership within a certain amount of time; requiring a supplier to provide a family member with a certain written notice; providing that an heir, personal representative, or family member of a dealer is not entitled to operate a dealership without the specific written consent of the supplier; requiring an agreement between a supplier and dealer to be enforced notwithstanding certain circumstances; repealing certain provisions relating to the termination of a contract; repealing a certain notice requirement relating to the termination of a contract; requiring a supplier to provide notice and a right to cure to a dealer under certain circumstances; authorizing a supplier to terminate a contract under certain circumstances; altering the amount of time prior to the termination of a contract within which a dealer is required to provide certain notice; repealing certain provisions relating to a warranty claim submitted by a dealer; requiring a supplier to pay a certain warranty claim made by a dealer within a certain amount of time; requiring a supplier to approve or disapprove a warranty claim within a certain amount of time; providing for certain notice relating to a warranty claim; requiring a supplier to indemnify a dealer under certain circumstances; requiring a manufacturer, wholesaler, or distributor to accept or reject a certain claim for warranty work within a certain amount of time; requiring that interest accrue at a certain rate; providing for certain compensation for warranty work; repealing certain provisions relating to the transfer of a dealership; prohibiting a supplier from coercing a dealer in certain ways; providing for civil liability of a supplier that