

Answer. I was, I think, on the northwestern side of the pole, further from Ady's than from the pole.

Cross-examination resumed.

Question. You were not too far to recognize any one whom you know?

Answer. If I had paid particular attention, I could have recognized them of course.

Question. You heard hissing you say?

Answer. Yes.

By the Committee.

Question by the Committee. Was your attention attracted in that direction to see who the parties were that made those demonstrations?

Answer. I knew they came from the Horse Guards; I could not tell any particular one, there was considerable excitement around there, cheering one side and groaning on the other.

Cross-examination resumed.

Question. How did you know the hissing came from the Horse Guards, if you cannot tell any persons who were there?

Answer. I could see the Horse Guards there in the uniform but could not at present recollect any one who was there.

Question. How many were there?

Answer. About fifteen (15) or twenty (20) I suppose.

The examination of this witness was here concluded.

C. N. WHITTLE, called as a witness for the contestant, being duly sworn testified as follows:

Question. State your name, residence and business?

Answer. My name is C. N. Whittle; I reside at Towson-town, and am a carpenter.

Question. Were you in Towson town or vicinity in April and May, 1861?

Answer. I was.

Question. State what you saw of the Baltimore County Horse Guards and Lieut. Grason during the last week or two of April, 1861?

Answer. I was about town more or less during the week following the 19th of April; I saw Mr. Grason, I suppose, three (3) or four (4) times, probably oftener; Mr. Grason was a commissioned officer in the Horse Guards, they were picketing the roads up and down the pike towards Cockeysville and towards Baltimore.
