

Answer. I have read it quite constantly for a number of years.

Question. Is that strip from the types of his press?

Answer. I could hardly say; in some particulars it does not look as if it had been, in others it does.

Question. Did you not know that something was gotten up within the last year as an electioneering document, to circulate which was not the original extra?

Answer. I never heard of such a thing.

Question. Are you prepared to say that was struck off at or near the time of the date which it bears?

Answer. No; I could not say that.

By the Committee.

Question by the Committee. Do you believe that to be a verbatim copy of the extra?

Answer. Yes; I read the extra very carefully, and I believe it to be a copy.

Cross-examination resumed.

Question. When did you first see this?

Answer. It was 3 or 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

Question. Did you see the Horse Guards when they started to town?

Answer. Yes.

Question. Do you know if Mr. Grason was with them?

Answer. I did not see him with them.

Question. Do you know whether in passing Mr. Longnecker's office, they gave three cheers for those sentiments?

Answer. I could not tell; I was some distance off.

Question. Did you see them swing their hats as they passed in front of Longnecker's office?

Answer. No.

The counsel for the Respondent here offered the "Baltimore County American," John H. Longnecker, Editor, of January 25th, 1861, for impeaching the testimony of Mr. Longnecker.

ANTI-COERCION RESOLUTIONS OF THE KENTUCKY LEGISLATURE.

LOUISVILLE, Jan. 22.

In the Kentucky Legislature yesterday, the House passed, by a vote of 87 against 6, a series of resolutions, declaring, in view of the men and money tendered by several of the Northern States to the General Government, that the people
