9-910. [Compelling testimony in certain criminal proceedings.]
COMPELLED TESTIMONY.

(a) In general.

If a person lawfully refuses to answer or to provide other information on the basis of the privilege against self incrimination, the person may be compelled to testify in a proceeding to investigate or prosecute a violation of Article 27, § 132 or §§ 340 through 343 of the code, if such offenses involve officers, directors, or employees of a savings and loan association.

(b) Exemption from prosecution.

A person compelled to testify or produce documents on behalf of the state under Subsection (a) of this section shall be exempt from prosecution, trial, and punishment for any and all crimes and offenses about which the person was compelled to testify.

(c) When witness may be compelled to answer; entry of order.

(1) If a person lawfully refuses to answer or to provide other information on the basis of the privilege against self incrimination, the court shall compel the witness to answer or otherwise provide information if:

(i) The prosecuting attorney requests in writing or on the record that the court order the person to answer or otherwise provide information, notwithstanding the person's claim of privilege; and

(ii) The court informs the person of the scope of immunity the witness will receive.

(2) The court shall enter its order compelling testimony in writing or on the record.
