

REVISOR'S NOTE: This section is new language derived without substantive change from former SF § 12-109.

The reference to "architectural services, engineering services, construction related services, [and] leases of real property" is added in light of the former words "of any kind" and to avoid any ambiguity created by the former reference to "procurement" followed by a reference only to "supplies, services, or construction". In this Division II, the defined term "services" expressly excludes "architectural services", "engineering services", and "construction related services". Under the former law, however, the defined term did not apply to the debarment provisions and the former law seemed to intend the word "services" to include those particular types of services. In light of this addition, the word "procurement", which formerly modified "contract", is deleted since the term "procurement contract" is defined in this Division II as a contract entered into by a "unit" of the Executive Branch of the State government, but this subtitle applies to the State, a unit, or a local governmental entity.

The former word "business" is deleted as included in the term "person".

"Person" § 11-101 "Procurement" § 11-101
"Public body" § 16-201 "Services" § 11-101
"Supplies" § 11-101

GENERAL REVISOR'S NOTE:

Throughout this subtitle, references to "debarment" are substituted for former references to "disqualification" for consistency and to conform to the language used in Subtitle 1 of this title. The former law used references to "debarment" and "disqualification" interchangeably.

The Procurement Revision Review Committee notes, for consideration by the General Assembly, that Subtitle 1 of this title, which was enacted in Ch. 840, Acts of 1986, and provides for debarment for certain statutory offenses, does not include any procedural provisions. Subtitle 2, which provides for debarment for bribery, does include procedural provisions concerning notice, right to hearing, request and time for hearing, investigation, factors to be considered in making a determination, and notification of results.
