

employer in advance in writing[,] may not be required to work, if by reason of religious conviction, the employee observes that day as a day of rest and actually refrains from labor or secular business on that day.

DRAFTER'S NOTE:

Error: In Article 27, 534-0, incorrect usage in subsection (b)2., an erroneous cross-reference in subsection (g)(2), and an extraneous comma in subsection (g)(4).

Occurred: The incorrect usage occurred in Ch. 343, Acts of 1973; and the erroneous cross-reference and the extraneous comma both occurred in Ch. 588, Acts of 1987.

538.

Whoever attempts to commit any of the crimes defined by this subtitle shall be guilty of a felony and upon conviction, be liable to one half the punishment prescribed for the completed crime. In addition to the acts which constitute an attempt to commit a crime under the [law] LAWS of this State, the solicitation or incitement of another to commit any of the crimes defined by this subtitle not followed by the commission of the crime, the collection or assemblage of any materials with the intent that the same are to be used then or at a later time in the commission of such crime, or the entry, with or without permission, of a building, enclosure or other premises of another with the intent to commit any such crime therein or thereon shall constitute an attempt to commit such crime.

DRAFTER'S NOTE:

Error: Incorrect usage in Article 27, § 538.

Occurred: Ch. 628, Acts of 1966.

552.

It shall be unlawful for any employee or former employee or group or groups thereof to remain upon land, premises or property or in buildings under the legal control of his or their employer after a notice to leave shall have been given by said employer or his duly authorized agent when the purpose [of] OR effect of such refusal to leave is to deprive such employer of the substantial possession, control or use of such land, premises, property or building, provided that nothing in this section shall be construed to include within its provisions such refusal to leave under a bona fide claim of right or ownership of said land, property, premises or building.