Article 101 - Workmen's Compensation

16A.

(a) (1) Any employer who does not, with the approval of the Commission, voluntarily insure the payment of the compensation by one of the methods designated in § 16(1), (2), or (3) of this article must furnish satisfactory proof to the Commission of his financial ability to pay the compensation himself, in which case the Commission may, at any time and from time to time in its discretion, require the deposit with the Commission of securities as are accepted by the Circuit Court for Baltimore City for the investment of trust funds and in an amount or amounts to be determined by the Commission, to secure the liability of the employer to pay the compensation specified in this article. The Commission may require the employer to obtain and file with the Commission a policy of insurance protecting the employer against liability for workmen's compensation benefits resulting from a catastrophe or disaster, other than from an act of war. If required by the Commission, the policy of insurance shall be in the amount and shall contain the provisions as in the judgment of the Commission are required to provide security for the payment of compensation and medical treatment. In order to be informed as to the continued financial responsibility of any employer, the Commission shall require annual reports or at any other times as the Commission may deem necessary or advisable, and may examine the employer under oath or make other examination of his business as the Commission may determine. If he should fail to furnish satisfactory proof, or give bond, or deposit securities as required by the Commission, or if he should at any time fail to render satisfactory reports to the Commission or otherwise satisfy the Commission of [its] THE EMPLOYER'S continued financial ability to pay the compensation, he shall be subject to the provisions of § 16(1) or (2) of this article, and shall be required by the Commission to insure as provided in § 16(1) of this article, unless he, at once, insures voluntarily as provided in § 16(2) of this article.
