

deleted as unnecessary. Subsection (a)(1) of this section more clearly states the general rule that an individual must meet all the other licensing requirements of this title before taking either the fundamentals of land surveying examination or the principles and practice of land surveying examination. Section 15-310 of this subtitle provides an exception regarding the fundamentals examination. Nothing in this title, however, purports to qualify the general rule as applied to the principles and practice examination, and it would be superfluous to state specifically that the general rule applies only to this examination. See the revisor's note to § 15-310 of this subtitle.
