CHAPTER 216

(Senate Bill 140)

AN ACT concerning

Boating - Use of Public Safety Identification Light Signal

FOR the purpose of altering the authority to use a certain identification light signal to include use by an individual on certain vessels engaged in public safety activities; establishing requirements for the use of the public safety identification light signal; eliminating the requirement that an operator of a vessel shall yield right-of-way to a vessel displaying the public safety identification light signal; establishing that use of the public safety identification light signal does not convey any special privilege to the vessel; defining a certain term; providing for the effective date of this Act; and generally relating to the use of the public safety identification light signal.
