

Since employees of State Use Industries continue to be affected by Ch. 22, Acts of 1993, § 3 and Ch. 33, Acts of 1994, § 3, the substance of those provisions was reenacted by Ch. _____, Acts of 1999, which also enacted this revision.

The Correctional Services Article Review Committee notes, for consideration by the General Assembly, that the first clause of subsection (c) of this section is apparently obsolete. None of the office secretaries or office clerks currently employed by State Use Industries are "special appointments". According to the General Manager of State Use Industries and the Department of Public Safety and Correctional Services, it is unlikely that office secretaries or office clerks would ever be special appointments. If this clause has any meaning, it would be to allow the Secretary to designate the position identification number (PIN) of a particular office clerk or office secretary as a special appointment. If this is not what the General Assembly intended, the General Assembly may wish to repeal the clause, "[u]nless the employee is a special appointment" in subsection (c) of this section.
