

In subsection (g)(1) of this section, the introductory clause “[e]xcept as provided in paragraph (2) or (3) of this subsection” is added for clarity.

Also in subsection (g)(1) of this section, the reference to a “licensee” is added to clarify who is committing a violation.

Also in subsection (g)(1) of this section, the word “may” is substituted for the former phrase “at the discretion” for brevity.

In subsection (g)(2) and (3) of this section, the references to the “State Fire Marshal” are added to clarify who is responsible for suspending or revoking a license.

In subsection (g)(4) of this section, the former reference to “finding a violation” is deleted as included in the reference to “suspending or revoking a license”.

In subsection (g)(4)(i) of this section, the reference to “file and keep” is substituted for the former reference to “file in his office” for clarity.

Also in subsection (g)(4)(i) of this section, the reference to the nature of the violation “that resulted in the suspension or revocation” is added for clarity.

In subsection (g)(5)(i)1 of this section, the reference to the “presence” of explosive composition is substituted for the former reference to the “maintenance” of explosive composition for clarity.

In subsection (g)(5)(i)2 of this section, the reference to the State Fire Marshal or designee “remov[ing] and dispos[ing]” is substituted for the former reference to the State Fire Marshal or designee “assum[ing] responsibility for the removal and disposal” for brevity.

In subsection (g)(5)(ii) of this section, the reference to “the State Fire Marshal or designee of the State Fire Marshal ... remov[ing] and dispos[ing] of the explosive composition” is substituted for the former reference that “this subsection appl[ies]” for clarity.
