

March court 1730 59 bounder of a tract of Land belonging to him called Golden Lyon stood on a oyster shell hammock near the creek near the Great Side called Marumso, it was a cedar tree, and that a carpenter named Richard Wilson cut it down to make a post for a house, that the said Teague Riggins had employed him to build for him she said this she was informed by her husband Riggins, and that Richard Wilson the carpenter said that he marked another tree for him & that would do as well he thought and further she says not

Ambrose Riggins aged fifty five years came before us the Subscribers and Swore on the holy Evangelist being duly examined said that his brother Teague Riggins said the first bounder of Golden Lyon stood on a oyster shell hammock near a creek side called Marumso the said creek was and that a carpenter named Richard Wilson cut it down to make a post for a house for his father Riggins and the carpenter Wilson said that he had marked another tree further down the creek on another hammock and further says not

Darby Riggins aged forty nine years came before us the Subscribers and Swore on the holy Evangelist being duly examined said that his brother Teague Riggins said that the first bounder of Golden Lyon stood on a oyster shell hammock, and that it was a cedar tree and that a carpenter named Richard Wilson cut it down the said tree stood on the north side of the hammock near the mouth of a gut that came out of Marumso creek and the said carpenter said he would mark another tree further down the creek and further says not

John Dutton aged sixty six years came before us the Subscribers and Swore on the holy Evangelist being duly examined said he heard say on the oyster shell hammock near Marumso creek, there stood a marked cedar tree, and that carpenter named Richard Wilson cut it down and said he would mark another tree further down on another hammock and further says not

Wm Holland
James Nairne
John Dutton

And in relation to what was said concerning the second bounder of a tract of Land called Golden Lyon

Mary Riggins aged eighty six years came before us the Subscribers and Swore on the holy Evangelist being duly examined said her husband on a marked white oak tree which was standing at a marsh side and said her husband Riggins told her that this was the second bounder of his Land called Golden Lyon and that he received turf and twigs from Ballard and further says not Ambrose Riggins aged fifty five years came before us the subscribers and swore on the holy Evangelist being duly examined says that a marked white oak tree standing near a marsh side was the second bounder of golden Lyon as his father Riggins told him and further says not

Darby Riggins aged forty nine years came before us the subscribers and swore on the holy Evangelist being duly examined says that a marked white oak tree that stood at a marsh side was the second bounder of Golden Lyon as his father Riggins told him and further says not

Thomas Maddox aged fifty two years came before us the subscribers and swore on the holy Evangelist being duly examined says that William Matthews told him of a marked white oak tree that stood near a marsh side was the second bounder on the end of golden Lyon and further says not

We the Subscribers attended on Saml Riggins business Saml Nairne Wm Holland two days Wm Holland two days John Dutton one day View on Francis Drummond } This may certify the Worshipful Justices of Somerset County Court that we Lords } the Subscribers being duly Qualified according to Law have viewed two plantations Belonging to Francis Drummond orphan of Drake Drummond late of this County