

that you will then exhibit the necessity that demands it, so clearly that it may be placed beyond doubt, and in enforcing the requisition, will apportion it with such even-handed justice that no loyal State or citizen will have reason to complain.

I have the honor to be,

With great respect,

Your obdt. serv't,

A. W. BRADFORD.