

When I continued the name of Comptroller in January 1862 it was not an act of Treason and much confusion prevailed in its relation.
 It is a distinction that I shall surrender the office to the charge of my successor with the Treasury overflowing in the hands of the nation, and the affairs of this time if not well managed, will have a most unhappy
 I have the honor to be, Sir, very respectfully, your obedient servant.

S. S. MARBLE
 Comptroller
