

Ans.—About 10 o'clock, and I stayed there until about 5.

Ques.—Did you see any other Democratic voter rejected by the Provost Marshal while you were at the polls?

Ans.—Not while I was at the polls.

CROSS-EXAMINATION.

Ques.—Who was candidate on the yellow ticket for Clerk?

Ans.—Col. Graham.

Ques.—Was not Col. Graham the brother-in-law of Collier?

Ans.—He was said to be.

Question by one of the Committee.—Was there more than one ticket voted on that day?

Ans.—There were two tickets voted that day. There were three parties, two voted, and one did not vote.

William S. Walker's testimony.

Ques.—You are a resident of Potato Neck District of Somerset county?

Ans.—Yes sir.

Ques.—Were you a voter there in November last, and what time did you arrive at the polls?

Ans.—Yes sir; and I arrived at the polls about 10 o'clock.

Ques.—How long did you remain at the polls after you had voted?

Ans.—I did not remain there more than five minutes.

Ques.—Do you know anything of Democratic voters being excluded from the polls?

Ans.—I know that Democrats were afraid to go to the polls. I know that from communication with them on that day—whom I met before I got to the polls.

Ques.—Were they going to or coming from the polls?

Ans.—I met them at a little town, called Jamestown, where they were talking the matter over. I then rode down to the polls to see whether I could vote. I did vote and went back and told them that I thought they could vote.

Ques.—Did you go back to the polls yourself?

Ans.—No sir.

Ques.—You read the Governor's Proclamation in the morning, and reading that, you determined that you would go down and make the experiment to vote?
