So the bill was passed.

The doorkeeper having returned, reported that in obedience to order he had notified the absent members that their attendance in the house was required.

The speaker announced that that the hour had arrived for taking up the order of the day;

Mr. Geyer moved to postpone the order of the day for the purpose of considering the bill reported by him, entitled, a supplement to an act relating to charges for transportation upon the Baltimore and Ohio Rail Road, passed at December session 1836, ch. 261,

Determined in the negative.

The house then proceeded to the consideration of the order of the day.

Mr. Grason, by leave of the house, from the minority of the committee on ways and means, submitted the following report—

[See pamphlet, Z.]

Which was read, and 585 copies ordered to be printed.

The house then resumed the consideration of the order of the day, being the bill, entitled, an act for the better regulation of the banking institutions in this State.

On motion of Mr. Williams, the house was called and the doorkeeper sent for the absent members.

On motion of Mr. Geyer, the house resolved to proceed with the ordinary business of the session during the absence of the doorkeeper.

The house then resumed the consideration of the bill, entitled, a supplement to an act relating to charges for transportation upon the Baltimore and Ohio Rail Road, passed at December session 1836, ch. 261.

Mr. Geyer called for the previous question, that is—shall the main question be now put?

Resolved in the affirmative.

On motion of Mr. Giles, the yeas and nays were ordered and appeared as follows—
