So the house refused to strike out the 4th section.

Mr. Adams called for the previous question

On motion of Mr. Ford, the bill was read for the information of the house.

On motion of Mr. Wilmer, the house was called and the doorkeeper sent for the absent members—who after a short time had elapsed, returned and reported that in obedience to order he had notified the absent members that their attendance in the house was required.

The question being upon the motion of Mr. Adams for the previous question;

Mr. Williams moved that the testimony and report of the currency committee, marked document U, be read;

Mr. Alexander rose to a point of order, and objected to the reading;

The Speaker decided it was not in order for a member to call for the reading of any other paper than the bill itself, according to sec. 32 of Jefferson's Manual;

From which opinion, Mr. Williams appealed from the decision of the chair.

The question was then put—shall the opinion of the chair stand as the judgment of the house?

Resolved in the affirmative.

On motion of Mr. Wilmer, the yeas and nays were ordered and appeared as follows—
