

Disputes between Hamblen and Batey that, that same year when he was Building a house for Old William Turvill of all he w^old to go through the same gut and that it was so narrow he was obliged to get out of his lanes and halt her after him and that the same Tapsit meaning the Old Capt. Tapsit and that he always called it the gut further the deponant saith that Tobias Bepers oath was read at the same time where the above said gut was described and called the gut the first bounder of Winchester, the deponant saith further that he heard a certain Elizabeth Morrison declare on her Oath that the gut above said was the gut and always so termed and called Boverines she lived on the creek, which was she declared before there was any gut, or any thing like one where the Land Judges hath settled the first bounder of Winchester where they set a Mulbury Crotch in the marsh she declared that she had often times gone along the creek side, and no appearance of a creek or gut only some other holes where they settled the bounder of Winchester, and the deponant declares that he at sundry times heard Old William Turvill say that where the Mulbury Crotch stood he believed not to be the gut which is a considerable way to the westward of the gut for he had often gone along the creek side there, before there was any thing like a gut, and that the other gut in the Bint of Marsh the place described at first was always called the gut and the first bounder of Winchester, and further this deponant saith not.

William Turvill aged about thirty three years or thereabouts being sworn on the holy Evangelist of Almighty God declares that in his fathers life time he heard him say he knew the places where the Land Judges or Justices had settled the first bounder of Winchester before there was any thing like a gut issuing out of the creek, only other holes in the marsh, but he had walked many times along there and that the gut that lyeth in the pint of the marsh, to the eastward of the house of the said John Bateys, with a small Island between the mouth of the gut, and the mouth of the creek, always was called the gut and deemed the first bounder of Winchester further saith not this deponant; taken and given under our hands this 26th day of April and 1740

Elizabeth Glasp aged about Sixty four years being sworn on the holy Evangelist of Almighty God declares to the first bounder of Winchester saith that, that gut a certain gut lying in the Bint of Marsh north east ward from the house of Batey with a little Island of Marsh just in the mouth of said gut which Bint stretches from Bateys house down between William Turvills and William Fasetts their Plantation and directing from the mouth of the creek being the same place first mentioned before William Henetts Affidavit or Thoro fare that she knew it when it only was a small gut in the marsh and now it is a Thoro fare from one creek to the other and that it was always called and deemed the gut and first bounder of Winchester and to her knowledge it was always called
