

ITEMS—GENERAL AND LOCAL.

Brigadier General Lockwood, visited our Hospital on a tour of inspection on Thursday, and was received with the respect due his rank.

The Steam Ship Great Eastern has been sold at auction for £25,000. She has proved to be the Elephant; it costs too much to keep her.

The Governor of Maryland and a few friends, visited the Imperial Russian Corvette Variag, Wednesday afternoon. A salute of twentyone guns was fired on their reception, and another when leaving the vessel.

It is stated on Rebel authority that the Rebel torpedo which sunk the Housatonic also sunk herself, the Rebels thereby receiving, to some extent, pay for the temerity of their undertaking.

JOSEPH K. BARNES, now Acting Surgeon General, was confirmed, on Monday, as Medical Inspector General, with the rank of Colonel of the United States Army.

The Richmond Enquirer says, the fruit of the robberies of the train on the B. & O. R. R. by GILMORE'S banditti was $100,000 in greenbacks, 100 fine revolvers, a good many sabres, gold watches, and other articles of value to the Confederates.

In the news from Washington it is stated, "It will rejoice the hearts of thousands in the North to hear that General BUTLER by his pertinacity and tact, has succeeded in making arrangements with Commissioner OULD, which will probably lead to an exchange of prisoners on both sides.

One hundred more men were returned to duty on Monday, via Washington,—enough for a large, full company. They were as vigorous, hearty, joyful a set, as we have ever sent off, and they will make a noble accession to our army in the field. Thus our number lessens; just as soon as patients become fit to make good soldiers again, they are sent to their regiments to make room for others; and there is probably no situation that aids in accomplishing this, better than our own Hospital, with its pure air, and beautiful surroundings.

We would call especial attention to the Grand Union Concert, to be given in this Hospital, next Monday evening, by the celebrated Union Musical Association of Baltimore. We have the pleasure to say we have heard the performances of this association, on more than one occasion, at the Maryland Institute, in Baltimore, where there were four or five thousand persons present, and we can affirm we never enjoyed concerts of a similar cast more than those, and confidently say that no one will be disappointed who attends this. The object is to raise a fund for a permanent band in the Hospital; something which we think no one will refuse or object to assist in, when they consider how pleasant it will be in good weather, in addition to the other attractions of our grounds, to have good music discoursed during our promenades. We refer our readers to the programme, in another column.

On Tuesday last the Russian war steamer Almaz, Captain P. ZELONOV, left our Bay for Baltimore, in order to change her masts. Her final destination is unknown at present, but probably she will remain in our waters at the disposal of the Russian Minister. The Russian sloop of war Variag, Captain ROBERT LUNDH, was to leave on Thursday last. She is ordered to visit different ports of the Antilles and after having touched at Havana she will join the remainder of the Russian fleet, which, it is said, will be concentrated next April in the Pamunkey River. The inclemency of the weather has interfered, somewhat, with our intercourse with the Russian officers, notwithstanding, their short visit here has been enjoyed by all those who have been favored enough to make their acquaintance, and our best wishes accompany the vessels on their departure. We learn from a good source that the Russian corvette Vitias, Captain CREMER, now on her return from Havana, will probably arrive at Annapolis, at the end of next week. It is supposed that she will remain here until the above mentioned concentration of the fleet at Pamunkey River.

When the War is Over.

How many a heart longs for this cruel war to be over. How many are looking forward to the day when peace shall reign; when the sword shall be sheathed, and the instruments of warfare are no longer needed. When occupations long neglected shall be resumed, when familiar associations, and family ties shall no more be severed. What a happy time that will be. It is said, in the mountains of the Tyrole, hundreds of the women and children come out when it is bedtime, and sing their national song until they hear their husbands, fathers, or brothers answer them from the hills, on their return home, O, what a glad song of welcome will be sung by mothers, wives, sisters, fathers, husbands, brothers, on the return of the loved ones from the battle field, from the scenes of carnage through which they have passed. We can conceive of no prettier sight than such an occasion will afford. We can conceive of nothing more touching, and we almost shed tears of joy in the prospect.— On the shores of the Adriatic, the wives of the fishermen come down about sunset, and sing a melody.— They sing the first verse, and then listen for some time; they then sing the second verse and listen until they hear the answer come from the fishermen, who are thus guided by the sounds to their own village. The loved ones will hear our song of welcome as they return, and when they hear us, with a peal that shall echo from mountain to mountain, from river to river, from ocean to ocean, they will answer us; they will take up the sound with hearts overflowing with gladness, and thus be guided safely to their homes again. O, what a meeting there will be. May the time soon come, when peace shall reign from the rivers to the ends of the earth, and nations shall learn war no more.
