James Buchanan to Tench Coxe, Baltimore, 28 April 1788

Full well knowing your anxiety for the Public Weal, tho' by no means Suspecting you of inattention to your private concerns, I embrace the oportunity to tell you--We are Foederal in our State Convention at Annapolis as 65 to 11. It is true the Vote only Shows 63 to 11, but two of our Staunchest Foederalists did not think it worth their while to wait the Question--So Huzza for Maryland & the Foederal Government; Chase, Martin Luther, & all such Fellows may now hang their heads or themselves if they please Mr. Paca has also fallen wt. them; I trust to rise no more--To morrow if the weather permitts we are to have great doings allamode de Boston. The opportunity that this goes by just Setting of Mr. J: West, I cannot add one word more on Politicks--Mrs. B: has just come in, & insists on being respectfully Remember'd to your very Charming Mrs. C: & the most Amiable Miss Molly Coxe your Sister in which She is most Sincerely Join'd by Dr. Sir

N.B: Mrs. B: often wt. much pleasure declares that the Still Social Friendly Evening we past wt. You, was the happiest She past while in Philada. & I have no reason from my own Feelings to disbelieve her.
