

Extract of a letter from a gentleman in MD to his friend in Phila:

"According to the promise which I gave you in my last, I am now able to send you a complete list of the Delegates for the Convention of this state, by which it will appear that your CENTINEL, depending probably on Mr. Martin's exertions or intelligence, has deceived himself, and been striving greatly to deceive the public, in respect to the politics of MD.

[List of delegates by shore and county]

"Note. All the above, consisting of 64 members, were elected by Federalists, and are said to have declared themselves such at the time of election - The following three counties, which complete the list, are said to be anti-federalists.

Anne-Arundel, Baltimore county, Harford

"It is supposed the Convention will not sit above 10 days. The final question of adoption will probably be carried by 65 against 11."

The prophecies of the enemies of the federal constitution in regard to Maryland having been founded on mistaken facts, have proved very erroneous. It appears that above four-fifths of the respectable convention just chosen are open friends of the government, and were elected in the places of their respective residences, while several of the opponents, contrary to the rules of the constitution in the election of their house of representatives, and in violation of the resolutions of the legislature, have resorted to places where they do not live, to obtain their seats....

How inconsiderable, says a correspondent, is the impression - how few are the converts made by the long speeches and publications of Luther Martin, Esq., when the very town in which he lives first passed him by, then rejected two candidates that were opposed to the constitution, and finally voted in two others by a large majority....The considerate citizens of America, when they are examining Mr. Martin's papers, will not find it unimportant, that the inhabitants of his own town, and the citizens of his own state do not appear to have relied on the statement he has given of facts, or the objections he has so laboriously urged.
