

Death of Dr. U. C. Cox.

Dr. Christopher C. Cox died in Washington last Saturday night. He had been in ill health for more than a year. Dr. Cox was the son of the late Rev. L. A. Cox, and was born in Baltimore in 1816. He graduated at Yale College, and afterwards at a Baltimore Medical School. In 1843 he came to Easton, and practiced medicine here until after the war commenced. In 1859 he was a candidate for Congress, running against the late Judge Stewart, who was elected. In 1861 he was appointed surgeon in the U. S. Army, and in 1862 was made medical purveyor, with headquarters at Baltimore. In 1864 he was elected Lieutenant Governor of Maryland. In 1868 he was appointed pension commissioner. In 1869 he was made professor of medical jurisprudence in Georgetown College. In 1871 he was made President of the Board of Health in Washington. In 1879 he was appointed by the President Commissioner to represent the United States at the Australian International Exposition. He returned from Australia broken down in health.

Funeral services were held in Washington on Monday, and the remains were brought to Easton and interred on Tuesday in Spring Hill Cemetery. Rev. Robert Wilson officiated. The pall bearers were Dr. L. H. Adams, Dr. J. E. M. Chamberlaine, Dr. John C. Earls, Gen. Richard Thomas, Mr. M. M. Dawson and Mr. John W. Ceeznan.

A widow and three children survive Dr. Cox. His son, Dr. L. C. Cox, lives in California. One daughter married Mr. Edward Dawson, and one is unmarried. His eldest daughter married Mr. Trench F. Tighman. She is leaving one son, who is now in New Mexico.
