PETERSBURG,

THE Damage done to the Island of Peterhoff and Streva, by the late War, is greater than in the Years 1717 and 1718. The Waters have washed away the Houses and Keys of the Gardens of Peterhoff and Streva, so been greatly damaged, as well as the Country Houses and Gardens of private Persons. The Island of Peterhoff likewise been the worse for this Pestilence; the Great Chancel House in that Island, and the Damage done to it by the Owners, amounts to upwards of 10000 Roubles, which Baron Pretlach, Bastion of the Admiralty, with ed thereon, was removed several Days of the Work. The Batteries of Wyburg have not suffered less than that lay in the Road of Cronstadt, which was lost with all her Ordnance, there were Chinese Damasks to the Rubles, which Baron Pretlach, of the Court of Vienna, had purchased in order to be sent thither, who is going to that Country, the same Accident his Library, which board that Ship. In the Storm of a Lubeck Vessel, that lay at Cronstadt, was carried by the Wind into an adjacent Wood. It is reported that the Wind will break the Wind is still at South and by the Cellars and low Ground long as the Wind does not continue high, it is impossible to freighted at Cronstadt to sail to Ports: We reckon above an hundred the Weather should suddenly may be detained all the Winter, above 1000 Persons have perished in the Village of Maifiva, by this The Accounts we have received are not less melancholy.

Venice, Nov. 27. Advices us, that a Corsair having taken Port two small Vessels under the Consul of that Nation immediately Representations to the Dey of Algiers, the Ships were directly restored to the board, the Algerine Regency fitted by a Squadron from Tunis were last Summer.

Leghorn, Nov. 28. The Emperor has begun again to chicanery with the ill grounded Complaints of the Passports being granted to force a certain Sum by Way of Indultures made on his Subjects which, he pretends, they were English. He farther assumes with Subjects new Conditions those of the late Treaty, and to Mr. Pettigrew, the Consul, ing to imprison him if they will.

Berlin, Jan. 2. The Emperor's private Representations made to the King's Name, by Mr. de Sade, to his Majesty's Embassy at the following Purpose: "That as ought to be equally observed, an Englishman might be taken from the Courts of Prussia from those at London Party found himself aggrieved Principle depends the Credit only between these People; the whole trading Part of Europe hold these Bonds of Justice."
