L O N D O N,

July 20. We hear A—F—, Esq; a considerable Jew Merchant, has lately bought the Manor of P—, in the County of Leicester, and the Estate thereto belonging, for the Sum of 41000 l.

Gaming is got to so extravagant a height at all public Places, and so many Gaming Houses in a manner established, that many of our Geatry are forced to sell their Estates to support this Folly, and find a fresh supply to engage with the titled Gamblers; so that the Jews will have Opportunities enough of purchasing in all Counties; when, Lord have Mercy on their poor Christian Tenants!

July 24. It being customary to ring the Bells upon the Arrival of great Personages at their Country Seats, it is said that that Custom was lately omitted on the Arrival of a certain B—p at his D—se this Summer; and that on his L—p's enquiring the Reason of it, he was told, that they had no Aaron's Bells; and that Christian Bells were not a proper Compliment for a Jew B—p.

From the SANHEDRIM.

We hear that great Interest is making in Duke's Place, St. Mary Axe, and other Parts of Lower Note, in favour of Herod, Nicodemus, Pontius Pilate, and (who ought to have been named first) that spotted Patriot, Doctor Judas, as fit and able Persons to represent this City in the ensuing Sanhedrim; being Gentlemen firmly attach'd to the House of Israel, and every Way qualified for that important Trust.—And we farther hear, that those Gentlemen have unanimously resolv'd upon a Bill being presented to the Sanhedrim, for the more effectually abolishing Christianity out of these Kingdoms; the open Profession whereof being highly scandalous, and derogatory to the Honour of the House of Israel. And that Doctor Judas do prepare and bring in the same.

Letters from Lisbon dated the 12th of June, mention that by Orders of the Inquisition, two Surgeons are stationed at the Fort of Bellem, to examine all the English on board Vessels of that Nation, whether they are circumcised or not, being determined not to shew any more Favour to the Jews of that Nation, more than those of any other.

July 30. We hear that at several very considerable Routs last Sunday, it was unanimously agreed, to petition the P—t next Sessions, for the Repeal of the Jew Bill; the polite Part of the World being apprehensive, that if the Law of Moses should prevail in this Kingdom, they will lose one entire Day in the Week; the Jews being extremely rigid in observing their Sabbath.

This is to inform the PUBLIC,

That the good Ship Rodrigue, alias Salvadore, Emanuel de Fonseca, Commander, Burthen 1100 Ton, 50 Guns, Jewish built, a prime Sailer, having extraordinary Accommodations for Passengers, is now lying at Mr. Caneo's Dock at Lime House, ready to take in those Christian Families that may be inclined to transport themselves to any Part of Turkey, as chusing rather to live under a Mahometan than a Jewish G—t.—It is proposed this Ship shall return loaded with a proper Number of foreign Jews, against the next Sessions of P—t. All Christians therefore, who are disposed to leave the once Christian Kingdom of Great Britain, are desired to apply every first Sunday of the Month to Mr. Lopez Dalmeida, who is never absent from his Compting-House in poor Jewry Lane, on that Day, at Solomon's Coffee-house near the Custom house; the Franco's Head Tavern in Fenchurch Street, or Sampson's Coffee house in Exchange-Alley, where due Attendance is given on every Day in the Week (the Jewish Sabbath excepted.) At the last mentioned Place, Money is lent upon Stock (honestly got) at 3 per Cent. and at 4 per Cent. without Questions ask'd. N. B. None but Principals will be treated with.

A Candidate, on the new Interest, for the County of N—, begging the Vote, last Week, of a worthy Divine, at the next General Election, was modestly ask'd, whether he was a Christian or a Jew?—Don't be surpris'd, Sir! continued the Divine; such a Question is now absolutely incumbent on every British Freeholder; nor shall I ever give my Vote to a Candidate until he hath put it beyond doubt that he is the former.

We hear that the Protestant Dissenters intend next Sessions of Parliament to apply for a Repeal of the Corporation and Test Acts, they thinking it but reasonable (as Protestants and Christians) that the taking of the Sacrament in the Church of England should be dispensed with to them, as well as those Outcasts of Heaven, the Jews.

A few Days ago Mr.—, the rich Jew, gave a grand Entertainment at his Seat at Tooting in Surry, to a very great Number of Noblemen and Gentlemen, Members of both Houses of Parliament.

The following is an exact Copy, of what was found below the French King's Napkin.

"OUR Father, and uncontrollable Monarch, who art at Versailles, Glorious is thy Name; and thy Kingdom will be established, whilst thou rulest in Righteousness with Justice and Clemency; and thy Will, by all thy peaceable, loving, and dutiful Subjects (not only at Versailles, but through the whole Kingdom of France) will be obeyed; and we pray, that our Tranquillity might be restored; And forgive us all our lesser Faults; but do thou avenge thine, and our Cause, on the Archbishop of Paris, and all his cur'd Fraternity: And, O King, from the Scarlet Whore, and the Devil d'Argerfon, deliver us: For thine is the Kingdom, and the Power, and the Glory. And we'll pray that thy Reign may be long and prosperous while here on Earth, and at Death thou mayst exchange this fading Crown for an everlasting Crown of Glory. Amen."

July 24. The Experiment proposed by Mr. FRANKLIN, of Philadelphia, for drawing the Electrical Fire out of the Atmosphere by sharp pointed Rods of Iron, has been several Times with great Success put in Practice by Mr. Canton at his Academy in Spital Square. He not only electrified several Persons, lately, without any Assistance from the usual Machine, but caused them also to fire Spiers, and gave them the Shock with the Phial charged directly from the Clouds.

Extract of a private Letter from M—, Dec. 1, 1752.

"The Rudeness of my Style, I know you will have the Goodness to pardon, in Consideration of my Desire of letting you know what is doing in this Part of the World. What was long ago fore seen by Governor M—* is at length come to pass. Du Pleix, who was another Mogul in the Dominions of the true One, is now in a fair Way to be humbled. His Vanity and Self-Interestness, which has often embarrassed the Company, is now like to bring Trouble enough upon himself, and it may be, force his Masters to remove him. The Commerce of the Indies cannot afford Armies, or require Squadrons of War to maintain: Trade that stands in Need of this, will be, in the End, found not worth keeping; and those intriguing Heads, who are for erecting Factories into Principalities, would be better employed if they would confine their Views to mercantile Affairs, which are best promoted by living in Peace and good Neighbourhood.

"Our French Mogul, D. P. always despised the English for adhering to this Maxim, and being, as he phrased it, mere Trade's; but he has learned, at a pretty dear Rate, that they are not so, for want of martial Ability. Major Lawrence, marching lately, with the Troops of the Mogul's Governor, near Pondicherry, this Hero would needs [unwarned by former Misfortunes] send the best Part of the Forces he had left to reconnoitre them. Major Lawrence, suspecting his Intention to attack, prepared to give his Troops a proper Reception; but, to make whatever happened his Affair entirely, began a Retreat, in which, contrary to all Rules, his Cavalry were understood to lead the Van. The seeming Nakechefs of the Infantry, and that Precipitation with which they were thought to march, invited the Army of Observation to charge. Alas! these broken Troops were immediately supported, and when the Action grew warm, it was perceived that the Cavalry were Masters of the French Camp, and ready to intercept their Retreat. This threw all into Confusion; a total Rout soon followed, and three hundred Men, including thirty Officers, were killed or taken Prisoners, a considerable Number of Cannon lost, and only one hundred Men, of all the Europeans who marched out, were lucky enough to find their Way back again into Pondicherry.

"In Point of Politics, D. P. has not been more fortunate, Ali verdi Kuun, who has so long governed Bengal and the dependant Provinces with Honour, has resigned, as we hear, to his Grandson, who was installed not long ago, according to Custom, at Hugly, with all possible Pomp and Ceremony. The English Governor from Calcutta was there, to make his Compliment and Present; when he was received, with unusual Marks of Respect, own'd, by the old Governor, [who by the Way is still the Man] for his faithful and constant Friend, and recommended as such to the young One, who, when he came to pay his Devoirs, took a very rich Sprig of Diamonds out of his own Turban, and put into the Governor's, in the Sight of a numberless Multitude present, as you know are at these kinds of Solemnities. Such are the Honours paid to Honesty and plain Dealing."

Extract of a Letter from a Person at Manchester, June 28.

"I was last Sunday, as were several Thousands besides me, at the Work-house in this Town, to see the most melancholy Spectacle imaginable—the Son of Mr. John Liddal, Distiller, aged seven Years, who was confined to a Garret upwards of Eleven Months by his unnatural Parents; with a barbarous Design of starving him to Death by little and little. The cruel Usage to this Child, was providentially discovered by a Woman, who had been its Nurse for several Years, and had brought it home about twelve Months since, because the Parents refused to pay her what was reasonable for the Nursing of it. The Nurse happening one Day, to call at Mr. Liddal's, was met by a Child near four Years old, who accidentally (I should rather say providentially) came out with the following remarkable Expression; Ab, Mrs. Hannah! Mrs. Hannah! Do you want to see Dicky? (for so is the Child call'd) Dicky is up Stairs. This alarmed the Nurse, who immediately went up Stairs, but was met by the Mother, who repulsed her, and endeavoured by all Means to hinder her going up, and tore her Clothes; however the Nurse proving the stronger, proceeded to a Garret, where she found the Child in a miserable Condition, pale and ghastly like a Spectre, and naked, save a coarse Wrapper about him, the Room darken'd, and nothing to subsist on but Water, with a little Oatmeal, and in one Corner of the Room some Straw to lie on, and so greatly emaciated, that he could scarcely crawl.

When the poor Child first beheld his Nurse, he seem'd overjoy'd, and most movingly intreated her to take him with her; but she told him she could not then, but would quickly come for him, and take him away. She immediately applied to the proper Officers, who got a Warrant for the Father, and he was by Justice Birch last Saturday committed to the House of Correction, and the Child sent to the Workhouse to be taken Care of. The Mother is absconded."

N E W - Y O R K.

October 8. Last Saturday arrived at Sandy Hook his Majesty's Ship the Arundel, Capt. Lloyd, Commander, having on board his Excellency Sir DANVERS OSBORNE, Bart. Captain General and Governor in Chief of this Province; and the next Day about two o'Clock in the Afternoon, his Excellency came up in the Ship's Barge, and landed at the Whitehall Slip, his Excellency Governor Clinton being at his Country Seat at Flushing, his Excellency Sir DANVERS OSBORNE was received at his Landing by his Majesty's Council for this Province, the Mayor and Corporation, the Officers of the Militia, and most of the principal Gentlemen of this City, and from thence proceeded to the Governor's House in his Majesty's Fort George, where an elegant Entertainment was provided for his Reception, and his Majesty's, with all the loyal Healths were drank, as are usual on such Occasions.

October 15. On Monday the 8th, the Honourable George Clinton, our late Governor, arriv'd from his Country Seat, and his Excellency Sir DANVERS OSBORNE, was elegantly entertained at a public Dinner, by the Gentlemen of the Council: And on Tuesday the Corporation voted him the Freedom of the City, to be presented in a Golden Box.

On Wednesday his Excellency's Commission was first published in Council; and while the usual Oaths were taking, the Corporation, the City Representatives, the Militia Officers, the Clergy, and all the principal Inhabitants, assembled in the Parade, and together with the Council, waited on his Excellency, attended by a Company of Foot, and a vast Concourse of People, to the City Hall, where his Excellency's Commission was a second Time published. Thence his Excellency, in like Manner attended, returned to the Fort, amidst the repeated Shouts and Acclamations of the People, where the usual loyal Healths were drank; the Guns in the Common and Harbour firing, and the Bells of all the several Churches in the City ringing. As soon as the Crowd was a little dispersed, the Corporation waited on his Excellency with an Address.

After which his Excellency, with the Council, and many other Gentlemen, dined with the Corporation, who gave him an elegant and splendid Entertainment. The most universal Joy appeared in
