The SPEECH of his Excellency JOHN REYNOLDS, E/q; Captain General, and Governor in Chief, in and over his Majesty's Province of GEORGIA, and Vice Admiral of the same; delivered to the General Assembly of the said Province, on the 7th Day of January, 1755.

Gentlemen of the Council, and of the Affembly,

CONGRATULATE you, upon the Regard his Majesty has been graciously plea-sed to shew this Province, in fixing here a regular Form of Government, immediately under his Royal Authority: The great Advantages of which are too obvious to require Mention. And as his Majesty has done me the Honour to appoint me your Governor, I take this first Opportunity to assure you, that it shall be my Study, during the Course of my Administration, to promote the Prosperity of the Colony, that you and your Posterity may reap the Benefit that will attend its flourishing State: The only Advantage I propose to myself, is, my Share of the Honour that will arise from the Success of our mutual Endeavours in this Undertaking: I expect therefore, that you will this Undertaking; I expect therefore, that you will all, chearfully and loyally, contribute your Affiftance to this laudable End; and as the most effectual Means to attain it are, Unanimity, Method, and close Application, let me recommend it to you, and advise, that the more weighty and important Affairs of the Colony be taken into your immediate Confideration, at your first Meeting. I think it proper for the public Service, that you first of all frame fome Provincial Laws, for the well regulating the Militia, for making public Roads, and establishing a Provision for defraying the Expence of holding two Courts of Oyer and Terminer, which his Majesty has directed to be held on the ficind Tuesday in December, and the second Tuesday in June: And I likewise recommend to your Confideration, the making a Provision for the ordinary Contingencies of Government, as far as the Circumfances of the People will conveniently admit of the same.

Gintlimen, As you are called together for no other Purpose, but to consult about the best Methods of promoting your own Welfare, I doubt not but you'll take Care, to suffer nothing to diffunite you, or draw off your Attention from the public Good. I, on my rait, shall be ready to concur with you in every Thing that can be conducive to your true and lasting Interest.

To bis Excellency JOHN REYNOLDS, Esq: Captain General, and Governor in Chief, in and ever his Majesty's Province of GEORGIA.

The humble ADDRESS of his Majesty's Council, met in General Assembly.

May it please your Excellency,

W. E., bis Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Council of this Province, met in General Assembly, beg Leave to return your Excellency our hearty Thanks for your Speech detected to us

We are very fensible of the great and obvious Me are very fensible of the great and obvious Advantage that will necessarily result from the Return his Majesty has been graciously pleased to show this Province, in fixing here a regular Form of Government, immediately under his Royal Authority: And from your Excellency's general Chander, and the Knowlege, that from our nearer Approach to your Excellency's Person, we have of your Abilities and Inclinations, we are well assured. your Abilities and Inclinations, we are well affured, that it will be your Excellency's Study, during the Coarse of your Administration, to promote the Professive of this Colony, that we and our Posterity may reap the Benefit that will attend its flourishing State; and that the only Advantage your Excellency proposes to yourself, is, your Share of the Honour that will arise from the Success of our mutual Endeavours in this Under-

We are determin'd to contribute our Affiftance to this laudable End; and as we are convinced, that the most effectual Means to attain it are, Unanimity, Method, and close Application, we shall take into immediate Consideration, at our first Meeting, the more weighty and important Affairs of this Colony, and afterwards Things of leffer Moment.

We will chearfully co-operate in framing those Provincial Laws that your Excellency has been pleased to recommend; and being persectly satisfied that we are call'd together for no other Purpose, but to consult about the best Methods of promoting our own Welfare, we shall take Care to suffer nothing to disunite us, or draw off our Attention from the public Good, and we make no Dobbt, but your Excellency will be ready to concur with us, in every Thing that can be conducive to our true and lasting Interest.

By Order of the House, Jan. 9. 1755.

His Excellency's ANSWER.

GIVE you Thanks for your Address, and assure be you, that my best Endeawours shall never be wanting to recommend me to the Continuance of your good Opinion.

To bis Excellency JOHN REYNOLDS, Efq; Captain General, and Governor in Chief, in and over his Majefty's Colony of GEORGIA, and Vices Admiral of the same.

The humble ADDRESS of the Representatives of GEORGIA, met in General Assembly.

May it please your Excellency,

E, his Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Representatives for the Province of Georgia, in Assembly met, beg Leave to return your Excellency our fincere and hearty Thanks for your affectionate Speech.

we have a most grateful Sense, of the tender Regard his Majesty has been graciously pleased to shew to this Province, under the benign Instuence of his Royal Authority; and doubt not, but we shall reap the same Advantages from it, and enjoy the same Privileges under it, as the other his Majesty Provinces in America.

the lame Privileges under it, as the other his Majesty's Provinces in America do.

We beg Leave to offer his Majesty our most dutiful Acknowledgments for this Instance of his paternal Care, and also for the wise Choice he has been pleased to make of your Excellency, whom we have great Reason to believe possessed of every Qualification, necessary towards discharging your Duty to your Royal Master, and making the People over whom you preside happy.

ple over whom you prefide happy.

We thank you, Sir, in particular, for the kind Assurances you have been pleased to give us, of your hearty Inclination to pomote the Good of the Colony, and to join with us in every Thing we propose for that Ead. We, on our Parts, assure your Excellency, that it shall be our constant Aim and Study, to propose nothing but what we judge and Study, to propose nothing but what we judge confishent with the Honour and Dignity of our Sovereign, and the good of our Constituents, being well convinced, that the true Interest of his Majeffy, and his loyal Subjects, are so closely connected, that whatever tends to promote the Honour of the One, is likewise for the Advantage of the Other; having all of us this in View, we doubt not but we shall be unanimous in all our Proceedings; and we shall, in the first Place, take under our Consideration such Affairs as shall appear to be of the greatest Importance, and that require our immediate Attention.

We will likewife confider of Methods for raifing Money, towards defraying the contingent Expences of Government, but our present Situation and Circumflances, are fuch, that we shall be able to contribute very little to that Purpose; but we hope, from what we have already experienced of hix Majefty's Royal Favour, that he will be pleased to grant us such Affistances as will make good our De-sciencies, and at the same Time assure your Excel ency, that our Inclination shall not be wanting, as far as our Ability will permit.

We hope that the whole Tenor of our Actions, we nope that the whole Tenor of our Actions, will tend to convince your Excellency, that we have nothing more at Heart, than to confult the Honour and Dignity of our most gracious Sovereign, and truly to promote the Interest of this Colony, in the doing of which, we flatter ourselves, we shall, in some Measure, lessen to you the Weight of Government, and procure you the lasting Satisfaction, of having contributed to largely transactions. faction, of having contributed so largely towards rendering us a flourishing People, which we believe to be your fincerest Wish.

By Order of the House, DAVID DOUGLASS, Speaker. Jan. 9, 1755.

His Excellency's ANSWER.

Gentlemen of the Affembly,

IT gives me great Satisfation to find you so truly fensible of his Majesty's paternal Care of this Colony. I am obliged to you for the kind Marks of your Esteem in this Address, and for the Assurances you give me of proceeding in the public Business with Unanimity. I shall be glad of every Opportunity of convincing you of the Sincerity of my good Wishes for your Prosperity, and I promise miself, from your Application, that they will be crowned with Succession.

P A R I S, December 21.

UR religious Disputes rise higher and higher; the Arcabishop is inflexible, and the King continues to support the Authority of his Par-liament. The Duke de Duras is fully employed in a Negotiation with the Court of Madrid, where he is labouring to conclude a General Treaty of Commerce, into which the Allies of France, particularly Sweden, Denmark, and Prussa, are to be admitted. The Smugglers are more troublesome and more formidable than ever; their Commander, the Sieur Mandrin, is esteemed one of the best Officers in
