MARY
Containing

PARIS, July 28.

AT a Time when we are pouring Troops into Germany, to the assistance of the Empress-Queen, the people are here alarmed with an intimation of an Invasion on the Part of the Emperor, who, it is assured, are making great Preparations for attacking us on the Side of Normandy.

His Majesty's Council, on the 25th Instant, have taken into Consideration the Demolition of Brest, Orient, and other Ports along the Coast; taking the Opportunity of the Absence of the greatest Part of our Marine now in America. The Court however do not appear ready to make any Alteration in its Design, contenting itself with ordering a considerable Number of Troops for the Security of the Coast.

Paris, July 29. On the Receipt of the News of a new English Squadron appearing off Toulon, a great Council was held at Court; and a Commission was dispatched to Madrid the next Morning, to enquire into the Matter of Spain, and to inform the Court and that of Spain. Some will have it, that the whole System of Spanish Politics is in a great Measure altered, and that a new and extraordinary Coalition is forming between France and Vienna. There are others, who as warmly assert, the Period is at Hand, when an effectual Blow to that Sovereignty, which has so long usurped the English Throne, is to be made.

Paris, August 1. Count de Contades is to sail from Brest with 18 Ships of the Line, and 12 Frigates, with which he is to observe the Coast of England for a secret Expedition. It is thought, on his Side, execute an Expedition to be likewise guessed at.

Paris, August 12. The List sent to the Emperor, of the Killed and Wounded on our Side, in the Battle of Hastenbeck, is as follows:
Killed 17 Officers, Wounded 118
1038 Soldiers, 1159

Frankfort, August 7. The unfortunate Zittau has fallen the Victim of a War in which was no ways concerned, few Houses remain what are greatly damaged, and several of the Inhabitants perished in the Night by the Flames. The Besieged cry out against the Impatience of the Besiegers, and they lay the Blame on the Obstinacy of the Besieged, and the Imprudence of the Inhabitants. However, if we may believe the Austrian Reports, they got into the Town Time enough to save Sacks of Flour.

Dresden, August 4. According to the Reports we have received concerning Zittau, the Inhabitants of that Place, in the Middle of the Siege, Bombs and red hot Balls that beat down the Walls, or set them on Fire, used their utmost Endeavours to save at least Part of their Effects, and as soon as their Town was taken, they should feel the Effects of the Mercy; and indeed the Austrian Generals are desired to spare them: But among the Troops that possess the Town, there were Panovians, and such like Irregulars, who, without Distinction between the Inhabitants and Soldiers, took but little Thoughts about their former, and imagined, that whatever they could pick up was lawful Booty. The Warehouse of Zittau traded largely, were almost entirely down, or plundered. Those wretched Inhabitants, deprived of the Succour they expected, of almost every Thing, were drove to seek Refuge among the Prussians. The Prince of Prussia, seeing them come in, and the Corps he commanded, afforded them Relief was in his Power. The Queen is sensibly affected with the deplorable Fate
