WHITE HALL, June 9

The Night before last a Messenger arriv'd from Notteln to Coeveld, they were not to remain long at Cleves, with the following Account of the Operations of the Army under his Highness's Command.

CLEVES, June 3.

THE 25th of May the chief Troops encamped at Notteln they were not to remain long at Cleves, with the following Account of the Operations of the Army under his Highness's Command.

most distant Quarters, in order to put them in a condition to march forwards. A Part of the Army went in the Night between the 26th and 27th from Notteln to Coeveld, to join those who were there before, as well as the different Regiments which were come thither from Hannover. The rest of the Army marched some Hours from Notteln for Dulmen, where the Headquarters were fixed in the Morning of the 27th. A Detachment, consisting of several Battalions, as well as of Scheither's Light Regiment and Lukner's Hussars, assembled the 26th at Wesseln, and in its Neighbourhood, under the Command of Major-General Wangenheim. He had charged him with the Dispositions to be made for the Passage of the Roer, with Order to advance himself to the Gates of Dusseldorf, and to pass the Rhine at Duysbourg. This Part of the Army executed in the Night between the 29th and 30th with such Success, that Scheither having with Bayonets fixed, the three Battalions that opposed him, defeated them; and Pieces of Cannon out of eight which he had but two Men wounded in the Part, not one either killed or wounded during the Action. The Army marched before Sun-rising on the 30th towards Dorsten, and encamped at Limbeck; from whence, the next Day, Lieut. General Wutgenau was detached with a Body of Infantry and Cavalry. The 30th he encamped at Ruesfeld, and the 31st at Ringenbourg. The Duke left the Army in March from Dulmen to Limbeck, at Boekholt, where he found the advanced Guard of the Army assembled at Coeveld. That Night the Guard marched on the 30th to Emmerich, and was followed by the rest of the Corps, who encamped at Wasselt. About Five o'Clock in the Afternoon of the 31st, the Whole was ordered to cross the Rhine; the advanced Guard as far as Lobit. The Duke's Design was to pass the River there in the Night; but an Accident broke all the Measures which were taken for that Purpose, and his Serenity was obliged to march the Troops back to Nedderelto. The first of June he employed in removing the Obstacles that were in the way; and in the following Night the Army again attempted, and executed with Success, near Hervén.

The Hussars, with a Detachment of Cavalry, passed, on the 2d of June, at Two o'Clock in the Morning, in flat-bottomed Boats, which returned with so much Diligence, that the Hussars, a Regiment of Dragoons, and twelve Battalions, were, before Noon of the 3d, on the other Side of the River. During all this Time Workmen were employed about the Bridges, which however, was not completed till Four o'Clock in the Morning. The Remainder of the Cavalry passed immediately, and marched on to Cleves.

The Hussars, supported by the Voluntarys, and a few Patrollers, which were taken Prisoners of War; and still continuing to defeat the Cavalry that shewed themselves, took a Pair of Kettle-Drums and Standards.
