M A R C O N

His Serene Highness Prince FERDINAND

Warbourg Camp, Friday, August 10

HIS Serene Highness acknowledges the Compliments of Thanks in general Terms Yesterday, for the Services of several Officers, Regimental and Company, who were then engaged in the late Campaign, and whose Valour and excellent Conduct completed a Victory over the Enemy. His Serene Highness is pleased to give his Thanks to be publicly given to the Officers, under whose Orders all the British formed Prodiges of Valour, which they did of doing, having his Lordship and the other General Officers of the Army, who, by their Examples, shew'd they led to the Charge, how much they were distinguished by an astonishing Courage, and a Preference not to be equalled. His Serene Highness is obliged to them, and gives infinite Thanks to them, as to all the Officers in general, particularly to the whole British Cavalry, especially to Lieutenant-Colonel John Mordaunt's Regiment; the Family of Lord Mordaunt, particularly Captain Vaughan, are here receive the same Compliment of Thanks, for their constant attendance Lord Granby in the late Campaign, and for the execution of his Orders in the most punctual Manner.

The Corps of brave Grenadiers, who contributed to the glorious Success of the late Campaign, receive by this the justest Praise due to their Valour. His Serene Highness cannot enough acknowledge the great Esteem and Regard he has for the Officers of the British Cavalry, and in particular for the Captains of the British Artillery, Philip Mordaunt, Esq; and Stevens, who so well managed the Artillery of the late Campaign. All the Regiments under the Command of His Serene Highness the Hereditary Prince of Brunswick, General Sporken, from the German Campaign, are particularly distinguished by his Serene Highness, for the good Conduct with which they fought Yesterday, at the Battle of Mollwitz. Major General Bredembeck, at the Head of the Cope's Regiment, who signalized himself especially, as is Colonel Hesse, of the Hessian Artillery, by whose Care his Artillery was so well managed.

Major Bulow, who with the British Cavalry, measured the whole Day in the Face of the Enemy, and who did them infinite Damage, returns him many Thanks, and desires him that he shall, on all Occasions, retain the same Sense thereof. In fine, his Serene Highness returns many Thanks to those who accompanied him, as well as to those of his Suit, particularly to the brave Captain Winsenrood, who is wounded; Captain Carpenter, who contributed to the taking of several of the Cannon; Count Daunaw, who was instrumental in making Prisoners a great Number of the Enemy; Captain Sloper, Major of Brigade; and Capt. Mallortie, who at all times conducted with Alacrity and Exactness the Cavalry of his Serene Highness.

His Serene Highness desires, that, on the next Occasion, the Army will return Thanks to the Almighty for the Success of Yesterday, and that he himself, by his Assistance, and the Assistance of the Officers, should be able to show Yesterday, we shall in the End receive every Obstacle that offers.

Warbourg Camp, Saturday, August 11. His Serene Highness orders that a Compliment be made to Lieutenant-Colonel Mordaunt, for his Behaviour and Bravery in the late Campaign, and that he be given to Lieutenant Colonel Clinton, as Aid de Camp to his Serene Highness the Prince.
