THURSDAY, June II, 1761.

H E S S E, March 14.

THE Capital of this Country is still in the Hands of the Enemy, who fire every Day an innumerable Quantity of Cannon on the Besiegers with little Effect. Had the Roads permitted the Allies to bring up their Artillery as quickly as they wished, Cassel would have surrendered before this Time. However, its Fate must soon be determined, for both Sides act with great Vivacity. The Garrison lost a good many Men in the last Sally, but it be true that we suffered in the Beginning.

Ziegenhayn is cannonaded very briskly; and hath been several Times set on Fire. The Garrison have insisted more than once on marching out to join their Army; which hath been constantly refused. The Enemy seem to have taken a Resolution to assemble between Hanau and Frankfort, and leave a separate Corps near Bergen. The Allies are employed in drawing an advantageous Line, for Reasons which may be easily guessed. The French have left eleven Battalions in Friedberg.

Eimbeck, March 15. The Cannonade of the Allies upon Cassel is heard here very distinctly. They have been reinforced by four Hanoverian Regiments. Col. Colignon has joined our Line beyond the Leine, with some Battalions of Prussian Grenadiers.

Prince Ferdinand's Head Quarters at Schweinberg, March 15. The continual Rains during the last Month have prevented the Siege of Cassel's being pushed so vigorously as we could have wished. The Enemy, consisting of the greatest Part of the Garrison, who made the Sally in the Night between the 6th and 7th, were so soon driven into the Town, that they had not Time to fill up the Trenches; the little Mischief they did was easily repaired the next Day; and even the Cannon having been too hastily nailed up, were soon made serviceable again. We had 50 Men killed on this Occasion, and 130 Wounded. The Enemy's Loss was at least as great.

The Operations of the Siege have been naturally retarded by the extreme Badness of the Roads, and more especially in a Country which is radically eaten up. However, we have Room to hope, from the Arrangements taken by the Count de Lippe, that Abundance will succeed to Scarcity, and that by Favour of the fine Weather, which has been set in for some Days, we shall meet less Difficulties in the further Progress of the Siege.

The Inundation which surrounds Ziegenhayn, not having permitted our Troops to open the Trenches, they have endeavoured to destroy the Fortifications by Bombs; but, with all their Precautions to spare the Houses, they could not prevent some being burnt.

Frankfort, March 15. As the French, in executing their last Retreat, have been obliged to destroy many of their principal Magazines, to prevent their becoming a Prey to the Allies, they are at present employed in establishing new Ones; for which Purpose they have received within these few Days, by the Rhine, several Boats laden with Grain, Hay, &c.

Schweinberg, March 15. After all the Boasting of the Enemy, and their Insinuations in Holland, that M. Broglio had with great Address got the Allies between two Fires, we shall bid fair to give a decisive Blow at the Entrance of the Campaign. The Garrison of Gottingen is again blocked up; the second Parallel is actually finished before Cassel, and that Place will fall in a few Days. Our Troops have again taken Post in the Suburbs of Ziegenhayn; and a Bombardment of 48 Hours will infallibly reduce it.

This Morning we had Advice, that his Prussian Majesty has made a great Impression on the Army of the Empire, and will speedily open the Campaign with the Siege of Dresden.

We are so posted that the Enemy may fight if they please, but it must be in a Position, which to them is no favourable Situation.

Frankfort, March 17. The Headquarters of Marshal Broglio are at Butzbach. Broglio made a vigorous Sally from Cassel on the 14th, in which he possessed himself of four Haubitzen, and nailed six Pieces of Cannon. The Enemy suffered besides the Loss of 5 or 600 Men. It is, however, whispered here, that the Place cannot hold out beyond the 19th, unless the Marshal hazards a Battle, for the Event of which it is probable he will not be willing to render himself responsible.

It is said that 700 Men of the Army of the Empire have been made Prisoners by the Prussians in the Neighbourhood of Wurtzbourg. Cadix, Feb. 24. The King having resolved to send some Troops and Warlike Stores to America, has assured the Merchants that they may be perfectly easy upon that Head, his Intention being only to secure his Frontier Places in America, and not to break with any of the European Powers.

Cologne, March 13. There has been a very brisk Action between two Detachments of the Allies and the French, to the Disadvantage of the Latter, who were obliged to make their Retreat as well as they could to Wesel. The Allies have a very strong Body of Troops in Westphalia, and a numerous Garrison at Munster.

Brunswick, March 20. Some Letters from the Camp before Cassel of the 17th mention, that the Enemy had made a considerable Sally the Night before, in order to destroy a Battery, which was erected near the Town; but that they had been repulsed with great Loss.

M. de Belunce, who for some Time past held the Post of Northeim with Part of the Garrison of Gottingen, has been forced, by some Troops sent from hence and Hanover, joined by a small Body of Prussians, to quit the Possession of it.

L O N D O N, March 26. This Day came on at Guildhall the Election of Representatives to serve in Parliament for this City, when Sir Robert Ladbroke, Knt. Sir Richard Glynn, Bart. William Beckford, Esq; and the Hon. Thomas Harley, Esq; were declared by the Sheriffs to have the Majority of Hands; but a Poll was demanded by the Friends of Sir Samuel Fluyder, Bart. which began this Afternoon.

Bristol, March 28. Yesterday came on the Election for Members to serve this City in Parliament, when our worthy Representatives, Robert Nugent and Jarrit Smith, Esquires, were re-chosen without Opposition.

The same Day, Lord Ligonier, and the Right Hon. William Pitt, Esq; were re-elected for the City of Bath.

Newcastle, March 10. The Disturbance in our Neighbourhood about Balloting for a few Vacancies in the Militia, hath already been mentioned. The Deputy Lieutenants and other Magistrates prevailed on the Rioters to go quietly home that Night, viz. Saturday the 28th ult. Since which the Pit Men, Waggon Men, Husbandmen, and Servants, in the County of Northumberland (for of such the Mob mostly consisted) having taken it into their Heads, that the Durham People of their Station had all got clear of the Militia, by the Rise they had made; on Monday the 2d Inst. assembled in great Numbers at Morpeth, and not meeting with such Indulgence as they expected, obliged the Deputy Lieutenants and Justices to quit their Duty for their own Safety, no military Force being at Hand. Then the Rioters got all the Lists and Books relative to the Militia from the Constables, and tore or burnt them before their Eyes. The next Day they went to Whittingham, 20 Miles up the Country, and acted in much the same Manner. Flushed with Success, and reinforced to 4 or 5000, they attempted the like Usage at Hexham Yesterday: But the Justices finding gentle Methods would not avail, had ordered Sir

Ralph Milbank's Battalion of the Yorkshire Militia up to Hexham the Day before from this Town. About 11 o'Clock the Mob assembled, and the Militia were all drawn out before them. The Gentlemen still intreated the Rioters to be quiet, but all to no Purpose, for they assaulted and struck several of the Militia, tho' they had their Pieces loaded, and their Bayonets fixed. In short, the Justices were obliged to read the Riot Act, and tho' they allowed the Mob near an Hour after to disperse, the Militia were at last ordered to fire among them three Times. The first Fire they sent into the Air, the next among their Legs; but the Mob being not yet intimidated, they were ordered to level the third Fire. Nineteen Persons were killed on the Spot, and about fifty wounded. Ensign Hart of the Militia, and a private Man, were also killed. There has not been such a Scene of Blood-shed this Century in this Country. However, it is to be hoped the worst is over, as they are now pretty well settled again. Major Crow, who commanded the Militia, is much commended for his gallant, as well as his humane Behaviour, on this Occasion.

Admiralty-Office, March 24. Capt. Howe, Commander of his Majesty's Ship the Biddesford, gives an Account, by Letter dated the 14th Instant, that he had taken the Chamillant, a French Sloop Privateer, of 4 Carriage and two Swivel Guns, and 15 Men. She had been out of Port two Days, was going to cruize off Harwich, and had taken nothing.

Capt. Brograve, of his Majesty's Sloop the Albany, gives an Account of his having taken on the 16th Instant, off the Isle of Wight, and brought into Spithead, the Hazard Privateer of 6 Swivel Guns and 22 Men, which came out the Day before from Cherbourg, and had taken nothing.

Commodore Sir Piercy Brett gives an Account, that the Grace armed Cutter, commanded by Lieut. M'Bride, arrived in the Downs the 20th Instant, having the Day before off Calais, taken a French Shallop Privateer, with 24 Men, mounting 2 Carriage and 6 Swivel Guns, which failed that Day from Dunkirk.

CHARLES-TOWN (South-Carolina) May 6. His Excellency General Amherst has given Orders to Colonel Byrd to complete his (the Virginia) Regiment with all possible Dispatch, and to march immediately against the Cherokees. His Excellency has likewise given Orders to supply the said Regiment with Provisions, &c. at his Majesty's Expence.

Camp at Congarees, Sunday, May 3. The last Division marches at Four this Morning, for the Fort at Ninety-Six. Col. Middleton's Regiment, with which Col. Grant expresses great Satisfaction, amounts in the whole to about 520 Rank and File: The Regulars are not quite 1300. We hear the Rangers are at Ninety-Six, and are complete; about 400 of them it is said will join the Army, while the remaining 200 are to be employed in Scouts; and ranging for the Protection of the Settlements against any Inroad of the Enemy. Capt. Colbert, with his Chickesaws, is arrived at the Camp at Ninety-Six, and has delivered to Major Moultrie two Cherokee Scalps, which they took near Old Keowee.—The Colonel saw every Thing in the best Order before he set off, plenty of live Cattle, Flour, & every other Necessary for the Campaign.

On Monday the 4th Inst. about half an Hour past Two P. M. an Hour and an Half after new Moon, and very near the Time of Low Water, a most violent Whirlwind of that Kind, commonly known under the Title of Typhons, passed down Ashley-River, and fell upon the Shipping in Rebellion-Road with such Fury and Violence as to threaten the Destruction of the whole Fleet. In the Ship News below is an Account of the Damage done there by it.

This terrible Phenomenon was first seen by many of the Inhabitants of Charlestown coming down Wappoo-Creek,
