In the South-Carolina Gazette, of April 16, it is faid, that the Second of that Month was appointed for the Execution of two Spaniards, a Frenchman, and an Englishman, at St. Eustatius, for pyratically landing on Guadaloupe, most barbarously cutting off the Breasts of two Women, and carrying off 14 Negroes.—And it is also said, that four other small Vessels, were cruising about the Grenades and Guadaloupe, in the same Manner, manned by Spaniards and Caribbee Indians, who had taken several Vessels; among them one belonging to the Grenades, whose Crew they obliged to walk into the Sea, on a Plank fixed for that Purpole, but that one of them got ashore by good

We hear from Georgia, that the Spaniards at St. Augustine were much dissatisfied with giving up that Place; and that it was thought two Thirds of the Inhabitants would become British Subjects, rather than leave their Properties.
