

my arrives; the Discoveries we have made of their horrid Villainies, are almost incredible. But to return to the Terms of Capitulation: Pondiac proposed that we should immediately give up the Garrison, lay down our Arms, as the French, their Fathers, were obliged to do, leave the Cannon, Magazines, Merchants Goods, and the two Vessels, and be escorted in Barcoes, by the Indians, to Niagara. The Major returned Answer, that the General had not sent him there to deliver up the Fort to the Indians, or any Body else; and that he would defend it whilst he had a single Man to fight along-side of him. Upon this Hostilities recommenced, since which time, being two Months, the whole Garrison, Officers, Soldiers, Merchants and Servants, consisting of 120 Men, have been upon the Ramparts every Night, not one having slept in a House, except the Sick and Wounded in the Hospital.

Our Fort is extremely large, considering our Numbers, the Stockade being above 1000 Paces in Circumference; judge what a Figure we make on the Works. The Schooner arrived from Niagara about ten Days ago, and brought some Provisions, with 22 Men of the 50th, and 28 of Capt. Hopkins's Company, who luckily escaped from that unhappy Affair of Lieutenant Cuyler, which I suppose you may have heard of long e'er now. About six Days ago we made a Sally, in which we killed and wounded several of the Enemy; among the Killed was a Chief of the Soteras; these of his Nation, to revenge his Death, fell upon Capt. Campbell, and cut him all in Pieces; they skinned his Legs and Arms, and made Tobacco Pouches, and other Toys. Lieut. M'Dougall would have shared the same Fate, but very luckily made his Escape from them, and got into the Fort about two Nights before. Lieut. Pauly made his Escape from them a few Minutes after Capt. Campbell was massacred; we have also got Ensign Schloffer, and two Soldiers, for an Indian Prisoner we had. Presque Isle, Sandusky, St. Joseph's, Miamis, Ocus, and Michillimakinac, are taken, and almost all the Soldiers belonging to each of them put to Death, except the Garrison of Ocus, which they have carried off to the Illinois. Lieut. Holmes, Commander at Miamis, is killed; also Lieutenant Jamett, at Michillimakinac, with about 17 of the Soldiers, and Warrant Tracey, a Trader. Capt. Etherington, Lieut. Leslie, and a few Soldiers, remain their Prisoners. They have plundered every Thing belonging to the English Posts they have taken.

Since writing the above, the Hurons, who begin to be wearied of the War, have brought and delivered up to us 3 Prisoners, among whom are Ensign Christie, late Commandant of Presque-Isle, and Little Levy, from Niagara. The Hurons and Fontenotumis, who were partly forced into the War, by the Menaces of the Ottawas, begin to withdraw, being afraid, I believe, of the Arrival of our Army; so that Pondiac, whose Army lately consisted of about 7 or 800 Men, cannot muster at present more than 500. They were so confident of succeeding, that they began to divide the Lands with the French, and have planted large Fields of Corn; but I know who will reap them. We have at present Plenty of Provisions and Ammunition, and our Men are in high Spirits; we are also happy in having one of the best Commanding Officers the Army can afford, and under whose Command, I think, we can give a good Account of all the Indians who come against us.

PHILADELPHIA, August 18.
Extract of a Letter from Fort Bedford, August 10.

"When I wrote you last the 2d Instant, we had no Account of our little Army since their March from hence on the 28th ult. As a great deal depends on that Convoy's getting into Fort Pitt, so, doubtless, every One must be anxious for its Safety. The whole got safe to Ligonier the 2d Instant, without a single Shot being fired at them. On the Fourth Col. Bouquet resumed his March, leaving the Waggon, with Capt. Hay, and some other Officers, at Ligonier. On the Fifth, about One in the Afternoon, a full Mile on this Side of Bushy Run, he was attacked (I don't hear by what Numbers) the Fire continued till Six; when the Colonel took Post on a Hill for the Night. Next Morning the Indians, having been reinforced, renewed the Attack, which was very warm, about Ten o'Clock, when the Colonel, having drawn up in a Lane, formed by his Bags, rushed upon the Savages, and pursued them upwards of a Mile and a Half, and then ordered the Retreat. In these different Attacks, we have lost some Men and Officers; but as this Intelligence is founded upon the Report of six Rangers, who returned to Ligonier, because, as they say, the Enemy got between them and our People, I am cautious of relating Particulars, till a more authentic Account comes to hand. In the mean time, it appears from the whole, that the Enemy has been repulsed; and, in all Probability, the Convoy may have got to Fort Pitt, unless attacked again, the 7th at farthest. I have Reason to believe, that the whole Force the Enemy had on this Communication was collected for that Stroke, for, from the Time the Troops arrived here to this Day, we have not seen nor felt the Effects of an Indian. And the Reapers, under Cover, and by Assistance of Captain Lems's Company, have cut almost all their Grain, without the least Interruption; but now I shall expect that they will visit us again."
